

Ladies that bake...at Lulworth House Residential Care Home

Baking lemon cakes and painting rocks

The ladies at Lulworth House Residential Care Home in Maidstone had a very creative week this week. If you haven't heard of the 'rock painting craze' that's sweeping across the UK and worldwide, you have now!

The quirky craze of painting rocks and pebbles with colourful designs or messages, and then hiding them for people to discover in a new type of treasure hunt, is capturing the hearts of people across the globe. Residents here at Lulworth House had great fun getting involved by painting their own rocks.

We also love an excuse for a nice cuppa and a slice of cake so this week a group of our residents got together in the conservatory, with drinks and snacks, to have a chat and bake a lemon cake. It was such a nice afternoon some residents stayed to enjoy a glass of wine or a beer afterwards.
