

Remembrance Day crafts and music at Lulworth House Residential Care Home

Last week, the residents here at Lulworth House Residential Care Home focused on remembrance day for the 100 year anniversary of the end of world war one.

Staff and residents worked together to make decorations during arts and crafts sessions – we painted poppy pictures, along with other crafts. Our ladies and gentlemen also enjoyed listening to war songs and chatting about war time as we worked.

In the same week, we welcomed a live musician into the Home who entertained residents in the lounge – some of our ladies even got up for a dance!
